In the event of Stallion Death

1. Stallion passes during the calendar year and its enrollment has been paid with a breeding sold, the offspring of that stallion are still eligible to show in that year's classes and the 10% payback will be paid to the stallion owner.
2. Stallion passes and the enrollment nor breeding has been paid or sold, the Stallion Owner can choose to pay the enrollment and the stud fee listed in the program to make all foals eligible for that calendar year. The same can be done for subsequent years as long as the stallion owner chooses. New nominations will be accepted and the 10% payback will be sent to the Stallion Owner.
3. Stallion passes and the enrollment has been paid but the breeding was not sold, the breeding can be purchased for the price listed on the Cash For Color website with the understanding that there is NO breeding option but just to make the offspring eligible for that year to show. If the Stallion owner pays the fee, the 10% payback will be sent to them. No other payee will be eligible for the 10% payback, it will remain in the C4C
4. Stallion passes and there is Frozen Semen available, the stallion owner will cover the breeding sold with frozen semen at no additional breeding fee to the C4C purchaser of that year's breeding. The breeder understands that this is the only option to fulfill the breeding and agrees to use Frozen Semen or forfeits the breeding.

5. Stallion Owners with Frozen Semen can pay the enrollment fee and use the Frozen Semen with the same rules as fresh for eligibility of the stallion's offspring to the program annually.
6. Stallion passes and the Owner gives a breeder permission to pay the fees so all Nominated offspring can show in the program. There will be NO Stallion Owner payback as there was no breeding to be used. This will be the last year additional nominations will be accepted for the stallion.
7. Stallion passes and the owner chooses NOT to cover any fees, The C4C has the right to determine that stallion's enrollment eligibility. By doing so, C4C will cover the expense of its enrollment to allow ALREADY nominated offspring the ability to continue to show. This will be decided on a year by year assessment. In this case the year the Stallion passes will be the ONLY opportunity for New Offspring Nominations. Including Owners with already bred mares for the following year for their in-utero foal. Foal Nominations are NON-REFUNDABLE. In this event the Stallion Owner 10% payback will remain in the C4C to cover the expense of stallion's eligibility.
8. Stallion passes and the owner does NOT choose to continue in the program and C4C does not opt to continue stallions eligibility, there are NO refunds for Nominations and that stallion's offspring will no longer be eligible to show in the C4C program..
